

BIO AND ARTIST STATEMENT

I, Lindsey M Whittle, received a BFA, in painting, from the Art Academy of Cincinnati in 2007. I taught English as a second language for 1 year in 2009, in a fashion high school in Gifu, Japan. I taught art for 5 years to youth at Baker Hunt Cultural Art Center in Covington, KY. I continued my fashion education in fashion at the University of Cincinnati Cincinnati from 2009-2012. I pursued a masters in fashion at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago from 2012-2014, studying under "Soundsuit artist" Nick Cave, all while maintaining my position as the "Master Crafter" at Kiki Magazine from 2012-2015. In 2016, I was the creative wardrobe director for the "Lighting Fires" music video by Olivia Sebastianelli, directed by Yellowhaus and also project leader for co-designing and co-fabricating 10 light-up costumes with Grace Duval and Julian Spring for the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra's Lumenocity festival. I am presently co-running PIQUE (art space) with Annie Brown and teaching sewing and performance art from middle school through college.

As an artist, I am a performance/fashion/visual artist that uses color and shape as a starting off point to collaborate with others and spread good cheer. My work is often connected to things wearable and the body. There are usually elements of play, change, transformation, interactivity and possibility in everything I do. I strive to enrich people's lives on a simple daily level. I have worked with bright colored versions of materials such as: fabric, wood, foam, paper, make-up, Velcro, acrylic Plexiglas and more.
